GOVERNOR D. B. HILL.

On the Way to Escort Atlanta's Distinguished Guest.

THE DEMANDS UPON HILL'S TIME.

Flower Is Certain of a Rousing Majority.

WHILE CAMPBELL IS SAFE IN OHIO.

Richmond to Tender a Demonstration in Honor of Governor Hill and Party on Monday Night.

NEW YORK, October 15.—[Special.]—The Grady monument committee arrived in New York early this morning, having been furnished a special engine for the trip from Washington. They are registered at the Hoffman house.

The day has been devoted to seeing the city.

Colonel Jones, Adjutant General Lathrop, and several others, who will accompany Governor Hill to Atlanta, called upon President Northern and the committee during the day.

Atlanta should certainly feel highly complimented by Governor Hill's visit at this particular time, as he is busy and night in helping out Hon. Roswell P. Flower's campaign.

Politics in New York and Ohio.

By the way, Flower's election is conceded, practically. Last night bets of 10 to 6 in favor of Flower were freely offered, but were not taken. A gentleman who is well posted tells me that Flower will get a majority of from forty to sixty thousand.

The race in Ohio is receiving a great deal of attention here, and the McKinley men will not cover even bets which Campbell's friends are freely offering. It is generally believed that Campbell will be elected.

The Programme to Atlanta.

Governor Hill is booked to speak at several places along the line to Atlanta. It is impossible for the committee to make up the programme which will govern his return until he has been consulted. One point is settled, however, and that is that he will reach Atlanta Tuesday evening.

Chairman Griffin, of the state democratic committee, has just called and furnished tickets for the committee to the great Tammany hall meeting tonight. They will attend in a body. J. R. HOLLIDAY.

GOVERNOR HILL'S PROGRAMME.

He Announces His Programme for the Atlanta Trip.

ALBANY, N. Y., October 15.—[Special.]—Governor Hill interrupted his state stumping tour today long enough to make a flying trip to this city, and was at his desk in the executive chamber nearly all day.

Before he departed this evening he had perfected the details of his trip to Atlanta to be present at the unveiling of the Grady monument next Wednesday.

Will Close His Campaign.

Governor Hill will close his present stumping tour at Birmingham Saturday night, and reach Albany in time to start for the south on the special train provided by the committee of arrangements from Atlanta. He will be accompanied by ex-Superintendent of Insurance John A. McCall, General Slocum, of Brooklyn; Assistant Adjutant General McEwen and General Ford P. Earle, of the governor's staff; General Austin Lathrop, superintendent of state prisons, and a few others. No stop will be made until Richmond is reached. The Powhatan Club of that city has arranged a reception for the governor and his party, and Monday night will be spent in that city. The next stop will be Atlanta, which will be reached Tuesday night.

Can Accept No Other Invitations.

Several invitations have been received from southern cities asking the governor to speak upon the national political questions, but he has declined on the ground that his time was entirely taken up by the campaign in his state.

General Pat Collins.

General Collins, of Massachusetts, who was to accompany the party, has been compelled to withdraw, for the reason that Governor Russell needs every democratic speaker in the commonwealth to pull him through in the present campaign.

TO RECEIVE GOVERNOR HILL.

Richmond Will Do Honor to Atlanta's Coming Guest.

RICHMOND, Va., October 15.—[Special.]—Governor Hill, of New York, will be given a reception here most Monday under the auspices of the Powhatan Club and the democracy of Richmond, worthy of the capital of the Old Dominion and of the democratic citadel of Virginia.

The general committee of fifty, appointed by President Belvin, to make arrangements for the governor's visit, held a meeting at the committee's headquarters, and some of the preliminaries were discussed. Among those on the committee are Mayor and State Chairman J. Taylor Ellison, Congressman George D. Wise, John B. Purcell, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Judge Samuel B. Witt, of the Hastings court; Colonel John Bell Bigger, the managing editor of the Richmond dailies, and representatives of all the clubs and branches of business.

There was some informal discussion entered as to the matter of entertaining Governor Hill, and Colonel John Murphy stated that the addition to his hotel had been completed, and he would be pleased to entertain the governor and party without cost to the club.

The Governor's Party.

The governor will be accompanied by General Slocum, of Brooklyn; John A. McCall and General J. G. Earle, of New York; General

THEIR LAST WORK.

Three Reporters of The Chicago Inter Ocean Killed in a Wreck.

ON THE CHICAGO AND EASTERN ILLINOIS

They Were Assigned to Write Up a Midnight Ride.

THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO WRECK.

One of the Worst Accidents That Has Ever Happened on That Road.

CHICAGO, October 15.—A horrible accident, resulting in the death of three members of The Inter Ocean staff and serious injury to seven other passengers, occurred on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad this morning about 11 o'clock, at Crest, Ill. The dead are: Leonard Washburne, sporting reporter for The Inter Ocean.

Frederick W. Henry, a reporter who came here recently from Louisville.

James Clark, engineer.

The train left Evansville early this morning and proceeded safely to Crest, where it ran into an open switch.

The newspaper men who were killed were on the engine, Henry and Washburne having been assigned to write up a midnight ride on a fast train, and Washburne, who was returning to Chicago from an Indiana trip, having joined his friends on the engine when the accident came.

The accident was caused by the engine running into an open switch.

Tonight's sad scene was witnessed at the Chicago depot of the Eastern Illinois railroad. The mangled corpses of the three newspaper men were being patiently awaited by a large number of their co-workers. When at last the bodies were recovered, they were placed in the hands of the undertakers.

THAT ENGLISHMAN.

Mr. Atkinson Speaks of the Primitive Methodists as Impostors.

AND THEY THREATEN TO WITHDRAW

From the Ecumenical Council of the Methodists Yesterday.

IF HE DID NOT TAKE THE WORDS BACK.

He Seems to Have Had a Desire to Knock Down an American Bishop, and He Got It.

WASHINGTON, October 15.—Rev. Dr. Donnelly, of the Irish Methodist church, presided over the Ecumenical Methodist council at the beginning of the eighth day's session.

In reading the minutes reference was made to an "excellent impromptu address."

Objection was made—first, to the use of the adjective "excellent," and afterward to that of "impromptu," and they were stricken out, notwithstanding Mr. Atkinson's motion to leave the word "impromptu" in, on the ground that it was well understood that Theodore Hook's impromptu jokes were carefully prepared a week in advance. Atkinson also objected to the exclusion of laymen from the presiding officer's chair, saying: "I have an uncontrollable desire to knock down some American bishop, and if I can't do it from the chair I must do it from the floor." [Laughter.]

The first business before the council was the further consideration of the report of the business committee in response to the memorial of the Methodist federation, and Dr. Stephens, on behalf of the committee, made an explanation of the purpose in reporting the resolution and expressed the hope that they would pass. He also suggested a few alterations in the original text, so that as reported the resolution read as follows:

1. That the conference recognizes with gratitude to God, the growing desire for closer relation among the evangelical churches of Christendom, and especially among the Methodist churches, and desires to forward a copy of this resolution to the senior bishop of every conference represented here.

2. That the conference does not doubt that concerted action upon many questions would be greatly to the advantage of the kingdom of God. Such concerted action might be possible and useful in the following great provinces of the Methodist world, viz: (a) Great Britain, including its affiliated churches and missions; (b) the United States, including its missions and churches; (c) Australia, with its missions; (d) Canada, with its missions.

3. That the conference, whereas it respectfully requests the churches represented in this assembly, to consider whether such concerted action be possible and, if so, by what means and in what way, and to direct the secretaries to forward a copy of this resolution to the senior bishop of every conference represented here.

Dr. McLean and Mr. Warring Kennedy, of Canada, earnestly advocated the first paragraph of the resolution, and told how a country had been reached by the Methodists in Canada. The latter speaker held that the time was ripe for an organic union of the Methodist churches elsewhere.

Dr. Leonard, of New York, complained that recognition of the speakers had been generally confined to the delegates from the United States. Mr. Atkinson replied that the last three speakers were from Dr. Leonard's side of the water.

Dr. Leonard said from the other country, and Mr. Atkinson said from the country, and my friend is from one of the other countries. [Laughter.]

He went on to say that this subject of union had been thoroughly discussed at the first council ten years ago. If union was wanted, the way to go to get it was to "peg away" at it.

Rev. Dr. Walker, of England, called attention to the gravity of the question pending before the conference. He thought it would be better to adopt no resolution relative to Methodist union at this time, as a union might be reached by the Methodists in Canada.

The resolution should read "unity," or preferably, "Christian unity," instead of union, and "United Kingdom," instead of "Great Britain," which excluded Ireland.

Rev. Dr. Half Abercrombie, of England, regretted that the proceedings of the morning had been so thoroughly discussed at the first council ten years ago. If union was wanted, the way to go to get it was to "peg away" at it.

IRELAND WILL PAY.

John Redmond's Letter to the People on the Irish Cause.

HE SAYS THE DEBT WILL BE PAID.

United Ireland's Cartoon on Mr. Gladstone.

AND ITS RED-HOT COMMENT ON HIM

In Which It Says the Parnellites Will Never Surrender—Other News from the Old World.

DUBLIN, October 15.—John Redmond, member of parliament for North Wexford, whose name has been prominently mentioned as the successor of Parnell as leader of the Parnellite party, has written an article on Irish politics, which is published today in United Ireland.

"The greatest friend of Irish liberty, the greatest enemy of tyranny, has been killed by the foulest slanders; hunted to death; the virtue of Ireland might be vindicated to the satisfaction of the Parnellites and hypocrites of England, the scandal mongers of Britain should now be satisfied. The English leader who struck the first blow may now be content; his greatest rival is no more. Christians who, contrary to the divine teaching, mercilessly persecuted their chief, may rest from their labors. Another item has been added to the account Ireland has to settle some day; it may be in our time, or it may be when we are in our graves, but so surely as the sun sets beyond our horizon, Ireland will pay the debt long due."

United Ireland today publishes a cartoon representing Gladstone pleading for the surrender of the Parnellites, and adds to it the following comment: "No, we cannot be friends with you. We cannot, not will, not no; by heaven, will not, not if England struck her flag to us and kicked dust in the presence of our assembled people would we know how to deal with her. We would not let the light of our promised freedom."

HE FORGIVES PARNELL.

Timothy Healy Addresses the Irish National Federation.

DUBLIN, October 15.—The convention of the Irish national federation was held at Cavan today. There were numerous priests among the delegates. The meeting was presided over by Timothy M. Healy, member of parliament for North Londonderry.

In his preliminary address he said that the members of the Irish national party are not concerned with eulogies over the dead, but the interests of the living. He hoped that resolutions would be introduced in his name for the removal of the stigma from the minority and not from them. The majority continued to be willing to overlook the past and to look to the future, giving way for men who are open for reunion. Ireland had given them no mandate to perpetuate the feud. Their party consisted of knaves and fools, for these men declare that they despised Dillon and O'Brien. He hoped that O'Brien would now publish to the world the whole story of the dialogue negotiations. If the letters and repeated declarations of Redmond and Harrington, now full of sarcasms of dissension, were published, he would not be surprised if the people of Ireland, he believed, he had already forgiven the past and was looking to the future. He was his political peers and executors had not the excuse of Parnell. They were acting solely in the interests of the Dublin caste and the orange lodges, whom the people hoped to cast out as scum from the body politic.

SHEFFIELD CHANGES HANDS.

A Big Deal in Which Millions Are Involved. Improvements Promised.

SHEFFIELD, Ala., October 15.—[Special.]—One of the largest deals ever made in the south was closed here today. Colonel W. M. Duncan has purchased the Sheffield Land, Iron and Coal Company, the capital stock of which is $1,000,000, paid. Colonel Duncan took it at 97 cents. A new company was formed, with $500,000 stock, and over one-half the stock was taken in an hour. There is also the Alabama Smelter and Trust Company, formed here, with $1,000,000 capital, paid up in full. This is a gain day for Sheffield. Three more firms are expected to go in blast. A complete system of waterworks is planned. A new hotel, just completed, costing $150,000, will be opened, and parties left to the new town of New York to inspect. This is no boom, but business. The first touch of prosperity has placed its finger upon Sheffield. Colonel Duncan goes to New York to return October 20. He is financially able to carry out his options, and is very enthusiastic. Steel has been successfully made from Sheffield iron made of local coke and stone, and this fact has much to do with today's sale.

THE WORLD'S RECORD.

TORONTO, Ont., October 15.—A. J. Smith, who operates a Merchant's Linotype typesetting machine on The Commercial, beat the world's record for machine composition Tuesday night, setting 2,000 lines of type in 10 hours and 15 minutes. He took the regular run of copy for publication next morning. His previous record was 2,500 lines in 12 hours.

The Sunday Papers to Appear as Usual.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., October 14.—Rev. Dr. Robinson, president of the Sabbath Observance Association, stated this afternoon that no move would be made this week against the Sunday newspapers, as reported. He refused to say what would be done next week, and intimated to the reporter that it was none of the public's business to know what they intended to do.

TELEGRAPH BREVITIES.

The health of Mrs. Parnell shows no signs of improving.

There has been succession of earthquake shocks in Italy.

SOLOMON'S SERAPHS.

Solassy and His Girls Swoop Down Upon Atlanta.

A HEARTY RECEPTION WAS THEIRS.
People on Hand to Greet Them.
Boundless Enthusiasm.

Bolassy Kiraly and his 250 ballet girls are in Atlanta.

The special train which brought them from New York pulled into the union depot at exactly 11:30 o'clock last night.

And they were greeted with such a reception as few visitors to this fair city are received with.

For about an hour and a half before the arrival of the special the union depot was filled with all sorts and conditions of male beings.

There was the old man, the middle-aged man, the young man and the very small boy. There was the ten-cent dude, the "agonizing" swell and the unpretentious, but scarcely less eager and interested wag.

The would-be "mashers" were there by a large majority and passed the long hours before the arrival of the train in a good-hum-ored way, joking and geying each other, speculating as to when the train would arrive, what the girls were like, and a thousand other topics interesting to a real live dudelet.

And bad heads—out of sight!
As the city clock chimed out the hour of eleven, the crowd began to increase, and by 11:30 o'clock the union depot was filled with a howling mass of "the boys," anxious to catch a glimpse of the girls.

At 11:35 o'clock the headlight of the engine pulling the special appeared around the curve, and then a yell went up that would have caused a Comanche Indian to turn green with envy in his grave.

As the gaily-decorated train pulled into the depot the yelling increased tenfold.

It was a reception such as even Solomon in all his glory never received.

His were waved, and several young men threw beautiful bouquets into the open windows of the car.

Inside the ballet girls were exchanging glances of surprise at the reception being given them.

A pretty little girl danced in high glee, and cried out:

"Aren't this a grand reception we're a gettin'?"

As the train came to a standstill the spectatlers crowded on the platforms, and up to the car windows.

A score of pretty heads appeared at the car window and looked out smiling. The boys yelled louder than ever, and, for heaven's sake, screamed Mrs. Kiraly, "take your faces away from the window. Do!"

A score of faces disappeared from the window, but the girls began talking to each other in an animated way.

"This city is larger than New York."
"Tell, did you ever?"

"Those young men have surely never seen any young ladies before."

"I wonder if they all have flowers?"
"Are they going to mob us?"

"Gracious! He, he, he, he!"
"Well, I do declare, this beats anything I ever saw!"

"Look 'em make faces!"
"Well, ain't this great?"

"This does beat all creation."
Are samples of the remarks which the young ladies addressed to each other. And in spite of Madame Kiraly's entreaties their frowny heads would be out of the windows.

The girls disembarked as soon as the cars came to a standstill, and by the friendly assistance of a policeman managed to get through the mass of yelling youths into the waiting room. They were closely followed by their admirers, however, and hostilities did not cease for an instant. Once they were in the waiting room the friendly policeman shut the door, and the cellophane youths were left in the cold. Still they pressed around the windows, and their admiring yells awoke the sleeping occupants of the Kimball and all the boarding houses within seven blocks.

The waiting room was completely filled with the ballet girls, and through the open windows Atlanta's young hopefuls got a very fair view of the queen of Sheba, her maids of honor and the royal dancers.

From all appearances there was but little difference between the queen and her attendants.

There was the pretty little brunette, with short, curly hair, set off with saucy caps;
there was the indifferent, carefree, sleepy-looking girl, of uncertain age. There was the old maid even; this did not seem to suit the ideas of the young men who thought King Solomon had the reputation of being a great admirer of youth and beauty.

A together the girls were from fair to middling, and a few of them were pretty, even.

They remained in the waiting room for more than a half hour, while the addresses of the different lodging places secured for them, was being ascertained, and during all this time the youngsters hung on the outside. It was getting tiresome, and one of the prettiest of the girls suggested that the jailbreak troupe water on them.

The suggestion was a good one, and a pitcher of water besprinkled the luckless youths at one of the windows.

It did not cool their ardor, however, and they made more noise than ever. The window was pulled down, but with a crash the panes were broken out to give an unobstructed view of the girls. At half-past 12 o'clock the last of the girls got in backs, and started for the boarding places.

Slowly and sadly the mashers betook themselves to their homes to dream of the sweet smiles of the queen and her girls.

The trip from New York was a most successful one. As all the large cities of the route they were met by immense crowds and given a grand reception.

One of the prettiest and most vivacious girls described the trip to a reporter in glowing colors:

"We just had a picnic all the way, especially since we got into the south. Why, we usually got out at one place and picked watermelons off the vines, but when we got them on the train they were citrons. And at another place we all got out in a field of cotton and picked several of the white bolls. It was a great novelty to us, as we had never seen any cotton before. And at every place we stopped couldn't get enough to eat. The eating houses were not large enough. But at none of the places were given such a reception as here. We certainly appreciate it. This must be an awful big city."

The ballet will spend today looking over the city and taking in their new surroundings. Saturday night a rehearsal will be given at the exposition grounds.

The large number of girls went to boarding houses in different parts of the city. Bolassy

Kiraly, wife and two children went to the Kimball.

At Spartenburg, S. C., Under, Gainesville, Norcross and other places before being built along the railroad in honor of the King Solomon Company.

The reception they received on the way and in Atlanta was beyond anything Solomon in his palmist days could boast of.

The Opening Day.
At the meeting of the exposition directors last night the matter of a programme for the opening day was discussed.

The marshal of the day, Captain Henry Jackson, has made as yet no official announcement of the programme for the day, but it is understood that the exercises of the day, have been about determined upon.

The formal announcement will hardly occur for several days yet. It is understood, however, that the procession is to form at the artesian well on next Monday between 11 and 12 o'clock. The procession will move at 1 o'clock, arriving at the grounds by 2 o'clock.

At 2:15 o'clock addresses of welcome and the opening address will be made. At 2:35 the machinery will start, and thereafter until 7 o'clock a special programme will be given.

From 8 until 9:30 o'clock the first performance of "King Solomon" will be enacted.
A platoon of police.

The Fourth Artillery band.

The Fourth battalion in command of Colonel Calhoun.

The Artillery, in command of Captain Forbes.

The Horse Guards, under Captain Miller.

In carries the governor, the orator of the day, chaplain, president of the exposition company, Mayor Hemphill, and the vice president of the exposition company; members of the general council, exposition directors and citizens.

Public Comfort.
The care of our guests are put in the excellent hands of Dr. Amos Fox, and all parties who have rooms or can accommodate any visitors to the Piedmont exposition will do well to leave their names with Dr. Amos Fox, 12 West Alabama street. It is imperative that the city should furnish accommodations for everybody who comes to the exposition.

FOR DRUMMERS' DAY.
A Special Meeting to be Held Tomorrow Night to Arrange for It.

The Southern Travelers' Association will hold a final meeting tomorrow night, preparatory to their special trip during the exposition. The committee of arrangements desires to have every commercial man, who can be present, attend this gathering.

Letters of acceptance to participate in the exercises on drummers' day have been received from Governor Northen, Hon. W. H. Fleming and others. More than a hundred local business houses have expressed, in writing, their willingness to have their traveling salesmen spend the evening in the interest of the exposition, and on all sides, letters are being received from other Southern Traveling Association branches and from drummers who indicate that they will be a memorable one to the knights of the grip.

Five hundred men will be in line and march.
Thirteen drummers will be in line, and two of them will be in line on horse and two drummers on foot, and the chief marshal.
Every drummer in line will be presented with a handsome badge, and on the day of the march and every man will have a walking cane.

At the grounds Colonel W. H. Fleming will deliver a lecture on the drummers' day, and will be prominent friends of the drummer.

There has been an impression that only members of the Southern Travelers' Association will participate in the march. On the contrary, every traveling man who can come to Atlanta is invited to join.

At the grand monument, exercises will be held.
The march will be arranged for discussion and everything gives indication of a rousing affair and the enthusiastic drummers will prepare for it all tomorrow night.

IN THE CITY HALL.
Two Committee Meetings Held Yesterday Afternoon—Another One Today.

The bridge and street committees of the general council held a joint meeting yesterday afternoon at the mayor's office. Dr. Turner presiding.

The bridge across Hunter street next to the Atlanta university came up for discussion and it was decided that it ought to be removed. A recommendation to that effect will be made to the council on Monday.

The special committee of five appointed to visit the dumping grounds with Dr. Ar-strong, of the board of health, and Inspector Vest, met at the city hall yesterday afternoon.
Mr. Shropshire and Mr. Hendrix both submitted reports to be made to the council.
They were unfavorable to any action at all, and stated that the present accumulation of the disposition of the garbage, etc., were all right.

It was decided to leave the two gentlemen prepare a report of the two and they will present it at a meeting to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At the last meeting of the council an invitation to visit the position of the city was accepted. There is a regular session on Monday, and the members must either attend the exercises at the park in part or postpone the meeting. It is understood that the selves say that if a quorum of both bodies is present the meeting will be held. Beyond that they do not speak.

A MINSTREL TROUPE.
With Atlanta Young Men Playing the Various Parts, Soon to Show.

A show well worth seeing will take place on November 5th, at the Edgewood avenue theater.
For some time G. G. Nunn, who with George Wilson's minstrel, has been advertising a good minstrel troupe, consisting of local talent. He has now shortly appear before the footlights.

The performance will be given for the benefit of the uniform fund of Company A, and Company B. Manager Kleibacher has generously donated the use of the theater on that night.

The orchestra will have thirty musicians. In speaking of the minstrel yesterday Mr. Nunn said: "In the first general part, twelve chorus stars will come on the stage, followed by many singers, and then the eight men will come.
The next feature will be a grand march and eight people, then an original march, and finally a final act by three drum majors. The afternoon performance will be a perfect comedy.
Our performers are all well known and we expect to draw a big crowd."

The cause is a good one and he will hardly be disappointed.

THEY WERE FRIGHTENED.
Passengers in an Elevator Descend Too Rapidly for Comfort.

About noon yesterday some twelve passengers were in the elevator in the Kiser building. They were clerks, who were eager to get their lunch.

The elevator had not worked well the early part of the morning, but nobody suspected that it was unsafe.

The passengers got in at the top floor, the car being crowded.

As soon as the men in charge pulled the rope the elevator descended so fast that those in it became dreadfully frightened. Their alarm increased as the descent was made, for floor after floor was passed, the operator being powerless to stop it downward flight. Finally the elevator was reached, and the passengers caught their breath. Nobody was hurt, but everybody in the car was scared.

Death of Mrs. Sanders.
Mrs. T. B. Sanders died at her home, on Fair street, yesterday morning, from cerebral congestion. She was twenty-five years of age, and leaves a husband, Mr. John Sanders. The body will be sent to Seacra City, S. C., this morning, for burial.

Death of Mrs. Terrell.
Mrs. A. Terrell, a widow lady living at 2 Ponderosa avenue, died at her home yesterday morning, after a long illness. She was thirty-eight years of age. The body will be sent today to Roswell, Ga., for burial.

IT HAS ADJOURNED.

The Legislature Finished Its Business and Retired.

WHAT WAS ACCOMPLISHED YESTERDAY

The Closing Scenes at the Capitol—Many Presentations—The Pension Bill Killed by Failure to Agree.

The legislature has adjourned. The senators and members have gone to their homes. Many of them are now in the bosoms of their families.

Some will come back next year, others will climb higher on the ladder of politics, and others still will retire to private life for all time.

Yesterday was a rushing day, particularly in the house. There was much to be done, but all was finished and the house adjourned after clearing up the calendar entirely. All bills were either passed or defeated. There was no pigeon-holing business done.

The Asylum Bill Passed.

The first question yesterday in the house was a motion by Dr. Hand to reconsider the vote by which the bill to examine all asylum physicians was defeated. He claimed that we should have capable and efficient physicians in charge of that institution. Of course Dr. Powell would not be examined, but with him excluded it was nothing but right and proper to pass the bill.

Mr. Whitfield, of Baldwin, opposed it.

So did Mr. Gilbert, of Muscogee, until he understood that Dr. Powell was to be excluded.

Colonel Huff argued strongly for reconsideration and the passage of the bill.

It was reconsidered and passed.

Soldiers' Pension Bill Lost.

The bill to pension indigent Confederate soldiers was lost.

It passed the house some days ago and went to the senate. The senate returned it to the house yesterday morning, amended to read "indigent and disabled" Confederate soldiers, and with another amendment providing that the state issue $500,000 of bonds annually for the next ten years with which to pay the same.

The house adopted the first amendment but voted down the second.

In this shape it went to a conference committee and that committee failed to agree. Such a report was made to the house, but then it was too late to order another conference and the bill was lost. The indigent and disabled soldiers other than those now on the rolls get no pensions.

Rushing Business.

The Ocala platform resolution then came up and was adopted as told in another column.

Amendments to bills by the senate were adopted at the rate of one a minute. All the thread ends of legislation were gathered up and disposed of. The clerk's desk was cleared and a committee was appointed to wait on the governor and learn he had any messages to send in before adjournment.

The committee returned and reported that he had nothing.

It was then but 12:30 o'clock. The house had decided and the senate agreed that adjournment should not be until 1 o'clock.

There being no other business the speaker declared the house in recess to await the hour for adjournment.

Closing Scenes.

Everybody was in a jolly good humor and as the speaker walked down from the chair, the members decided to have a little fun in a mock house for the amusement of the galleries.

Major Ryals, the rotund Chathamite, was called to the chair and called upon for an address.

He rapped his gavel, tightened his belt and announced:

"This is a position I have long sought, and sighed because I have not found it."

This ended his address. Then Mr. Gilbert rushed to the front with a resolution with many whereases announcing that as El Williams was to move to Atlanta and take with himself an Atlanta wife, thus deserting the county of Richmond, which had honored him, his seat be declared vacant and he be impeached.

Immediately calls were made for the much embraced Mr. Williams. His prospective looked down upon him from the gallery, and he would have given a kingdom almost for a trapdoor to fall through, but it was not there, and he sat silent, as red as a beet.

But the boys were in for fun, and a committee of three went for him and led him to the stand. On his feet he recovered his composure to an extent and pleaded guilty to the charge of moving to Atlanta, but, with the same give-away expression on his face that the little boy had when he declared he had not been stealing green apples, he denied the second charge.

The mock house of the session for some minutes, with everybody in jolly humor.

A Final Compliment.

Then Mr. Fleming announced to the house that, as was well known, the members would make a presentation to Speaker Howell, and he moved that Mr. Sibley, of Cobb, make the speech.

Mr. Lumsden, of White, was called to the chair, and a committee went to the speaker's room for Mr. Howell.

He stood at the clerk's desk. Mr. Sibley stood in the center aisle with a messenger at his side bearing a handsome silver tray and tea service.

Mr. Sibley said: "Mr. Speaker—The members of this house, appreciating the fair manner in which you have presided over this session, have delegated me, in behalf of every member on this floor, to present to you this token of our esteem."

Mr. Howell replied that he scarcely knew how to express his feelings after so many days of pleasant fellowship. He expressed hearty thanks to every member of the house and declared that above all he prized the expression of the gentleman from Cobb for the house, that he had been a fair and impartial presiding officer. He was glad to say that during his term as speaker there had not been an appeal from the decision of the chair in a single instance.

He said he might have differed with the house in the disposition of some business, but no man could say that the house had not done what it conscientiously believed to be the right.

It stands, he said, as one house above all that has given more munificent recognition to Confederate soldiers. Some had differed about the Confederate Home being the best method by which to distribute means to the soldiers, but all were agreed that this legislature had done more than all others for Confederate soldiers and their widows. It has done more for public schools, and passed more bank and railroad charters than any other.

In concluding, Mr. Howell said: "I am happy and proud to carry with me from this position the confidence, esteem and friendship of my fellow members. Whatever may be in store for me, I shall never feel more profoundly grateful to anybody than I am to the members of this house."

Then the speaker took the chair and announced the house adjourned sine die.

THE SENATE'S VALEDICTORY.

The Closing Scenes in the Upper House of the General Assembly.

The senate's last day was a busy one.

All through the session the senators waded knee-deep in a maze of measures.

The clerk's desk was piled high with pending bills, which, at the steady rap of the president's gavel, were knocked down as tables, lost or carried.

The business transacted will speak its own praises.

The Baldwin constitutional amendment to pension indigent Confederate soldiers, was amended by the senate so as to read "indigent and disabled," and providing for the issuance of $500,000 of bonds annually. The house refused to concur in the latter clause of the amendment and the senate insisted on it.

A committee of conference was appointed, consisting of Senators Terrell, Ellington and Candler, on the part of the senate, to reconcile the divided opinion. This committee reported that no agreement could be reached with the house committee. The adjournment of the legislature, therefore, kills the measure.

Senator Terrell moved to take up both house and senate bills for concurrence in amendments. Carried.

Concurrences Were Made.

To an act establishing city courts in cities of 15,000 or more, inhabitants, on the recommendation of grand juries.

To an act incorporating the Merchants' and Farmers' bank of Hartwell.

To an act of incorporation of the Talbot Building and Loan Company.

To an act repealing an act to abolish the office of county treasurer.

To have annual limited sessions.

Mr. Glenn moved to suspend the rules and take up the house bill providing for amending the constitution so as to hold legislative sessions annually hereafter.

On the third reading pending an announcement of the vote it was tabled. Mr. Glenn moved to reconsider, which carried. The bill was put on its passage. Senators Ellington and Callaway said the people wanted it, it was proper, and should be carried. The bill passed on a vote of 30 to 7.

Then Senator Terrell moved to take up the other bill for changing the constitution, which restricts the legislature to a session of fifty days. On an aye and nay vote it passed.

Both now await the governor's signature to become laws.

Postal Rights for the Insane.

On the motion of Senator Williams the bill insuring postal rights to the inmates of the insane asylums was reconsidered. Mr. Callaway deprecated earnestly the wisdom of the measure. The previous question having been called, discussion was cut off and the call sustained. The main question of agreement to the favorable report of the committee was put and adopted. On its passage the bill was carried by a vote of 24 to 10.

Then Senator Terrell moved to take up the bill for changing the constitution, which restricts the legislature to a session of fifty days. On an aye and nay vote it passed.

Both now await the governor's signature to become laws.

Joint Resolutions Passed.

To extend the use of the senate chamber to the national convention of Phi Delta Theta, October 21st; the Sigma Alpha Epsilon's forty-fifth annual convention, December 28th, 29th and 30th.

The State Normal College.

The bill of Mr. Huff, of Bibb, providing for the establishment and maintenance of a state normal college, to be located at Athens, was considered. Warm discussion was heard on both sides of the bill. An aye and nay vote resulted in a poll of 22 to 15, which lacked one of being a constitutional majority, whereupon President Mitchell voted in the affirmative, thus passing the measure. Georgia will have a normal college.

At 11:05 an executive session of three minutes was held.

Then bills awaiting consideration were taken up.

Bills Passed.

To incorporate the Woodbury Banking Company.

To prescribe conditions under which long-ranged firearms shall be carried.

To provide for the recording of bonds of county treasurers.

To regulate the business of the building and loan associations of this state.

To prescribe the mode for the sale of liquors in Emanuel county.

To provide for the honorable retirement of commissioned officers.

To require common carriers to receive live stock for transportation.

To provide two assistants for the state chemist at a salary of $1,000.

To create a board of police commissioners for the city of Rome, Floyd county.

To change the manner of selecting the commissioners of roads and revenues in counties where they are elected by the people.

To locate the office of the tax collector of Laurens county.

To publish legal advertisements in the newspapers having the largest circulations in the county.

The joint committee, appointed to fix an hour for adjournment, announced 1 o'clock p. m. as the set time. It was adopted.

Closing Scenes.

The hour having approached for an adjournment, the senators made lastly preparations to commemorate the occasion with speeches, the presentation of keepsakes and some cheer.

Resolutions were passed, thanking the presiding officer for his untiring labors and courtesy; the clerk and other officers for their faithfulness; the newspaper correspondents for their strenuous efforts to report accurately the work of the senate, and others.

Next Senator Terrell took the floor, and in a few neat remarks, presented, in the name of the senate, to the speaker, a handsome china set containing more than a hundred pieces. Said he: "By your kindly treatment of every senator, and the cheerful and cordial manner in which you have received the members of the senate, and your uniform courtesy, impartiality and forbearance in the discharge of your official duties as our president, you have endeared yourself to each and every one, and as a feeble testimonial of our feelings on this occasion—we desire to present to you this beautiful china set, which we beg you to accept with our best wishes for the success and happiness of you and yours."

In reply, President Mitchell said: "Senator Terrell and Senators—A man who is indifferent to the good opinion and kindness of his fellowmen, is an ingrate, and deserves to be classed with the lowest order of God's creatures."

"The kind terms in which you see fit to refer to my humble services and the expression of esteem and friendship entertained for me on the part of my fellow senators, I assure you, sir, touches my heart very deeply and renders words utterly inadequate to express my feelings."

"Had the splendid gift which you, in such beautiful terms present, been solely intended for my own use or comfort, it were enough to claim my highest appreciation and gratitude, but when from its very nature, as well as from an open suggestion from one of the donors, you pay me the double and treble compliment of intending it more for my wife than myself, it makes my obligations to you tenfold greater and more impossible of cancellation of any poor acts or words of mine."

"Let me assure you, my friends, this beautiful present, in the future, as now, shall always call to my happy recollection of this occasion, and shall be a pleasing memory with me and mine as long as we may live."

Then a handsome gold-headed cane was presented by Senator Callaway, in the name of his colleagues, to the Hon. G. W. Warren, president pro tem, of the senate, for his able, faithful and cordial services. Senator Warren responded in appropriate words to the esteemed honor done him.

The special judiciary committee, through their spokesman, Senator Glenn, then presented the Hon. E. H. Callaway with a very handsome gold-headed cane.

A standing parlor lamp was presented to Mr. Callaway, by Senator Callaway, in behalf of the general judiciary committee.

Another standing parlor lamp was the token of confidence and regard, from the finance committee to Senator Terrell.

The railroad committee remembered Senator Richard Johnson, now at his home, by sending a gold-headed walking stick.

Lastly, the committee on public schools showed their appreciation for Senator Irvine by bestowing on him another elegant walking stick.

After these little tokens of affection had been bestowed, on motion of Master "Sat" Turner, one of the bright little pages, he took a table and, perched above all, delivered a wonderful speech to his friends, the senators, in which he expressed his appreciation for the session.

It was received with rousing cheers. "Sat" is expected back as a senator on attaining his majority.

Last came the flow of good will and humor. The senators, officers, reporters and a few visitors were invited into an anteroom, where there was happiness indeed. The sharp popping of champagne bottles resounded through legislative chambers. This was Senator Tom Canabiss's set-up, and it was appreciated.

President Mitchell's Farewell.

Resuming his chair again and calling the senate to order, pursuant to an adjournment President Mitchell said:

"Senators—The science of government is as broad and deep as the ocean itself, and its perfect solution lies as far beyond the ken of human wisdom as does the concealed treasures of the great deep from the reach of human vision."

"The perfection of law has engaged the best thought and effort of mankind from the beginning of time, and yet we are far from attaining the end."

"That you have enacted some laws that are unwise was to be expected. That you have enacted others that are wise is equally true, but that you have enacted any law without the best interests of the people of Georgia at heart, I believe to be emphatically untrue."

"Your work goes to your constituents and must stand or fall by the test of time and experience. The wisdom of it can only be fully determined by this test. The conscientiousness, however, of the integrity of purpose and purity of motive in the passage of some laws, and the failure to pass others that have been considered by this body, while it cannot entirely deflect, nor render perfect that which is imperfect, can be carried home with you and remain a living abiding reality in each senator's breast that even the ravages of time cannot efface."

"A sense of duty honestly performed shields as effectually the heart of the patriot as did the steel-clad armor of the ancient soldier his person, from the poisoned arrows of the enemy. Unjust criticism, whether it comes in the garb of serious condemnation or in the biting sarcasm of a humorist, will fail as harmlessly as the upright legislator's feet as did the broken arrows at the feet of the mailed warrior."

"Senators, the time having arrived to declare this sense adjournment sine die, the declaration of it is fraught with more meaning to us than would appear in the mere formal announcement of it. While I rejoice that the labors have been brought to a close, that we are soon in the providence of God to be reunited to our loved ones at home, and take our wonted places among our people who have commissioned us with this high trust, yet, the solemn fact comes to our minds, unbidden though it may be, that this senate, as a body, has conversed its last time, and when it adjourns forever. In the very nature of things, it is impossible that we shall ever assemble in like capacity. Many of us, perhaps, widely separated, as we will be, can never more renew in person the friendship so strongly formed in 1890 and '91. Some of us we know must very soon, and all at no very distant day, cross over the river."

"Let us then, in view of these solemn facts, consecrate ourselves anew this day to God, our homes and our country."

"Senators, I cannot take my leave of you without acknowledging publicly a profound sense of gratitude for the official and personal consideration and kindness invariably and unstintingly received at your hands."

"Wherever I go, in the future, my reputation may have come to me by virtue of being your presiding officer, is due solely to your generous conduct, and the unselfish upholding of my hands in the performance of every official duty. The respect and esteem which I first entertained for you has from long association and better acquaintance ripened into affection, and I say candidly, with a reciprocity of feeling, that your part will be a more gratifying and enduring memory with me than all the honor attached to the official position."

"To say more would, perhaps, be superfluous, to say less would fail to even partially express the feeling of a heart that will always remember you and the officers and attaches of this body with kind and grateful remembrance. I declare the senate of 1890 and 1891 adjourned sine die."

Then were the goodbyes and the handshaking, and the senate was no more.

Trustee of the University.

Hon. Spencer R. Atkinson, of Glynn county, was appointed by the governor a member of the board of trustees for the State University, and the appointment was confirmed by the senate.

CAPITOL GOSSIP.

The house yesterday passed resolutions granting the use of the hall to the "S. A. E.," "Chi Phi" and "Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers" conventions.

The governor yesterday vetoed the bill extending the boundaries of the city of Milledgeville.

Mr. Calvin, of Richmond, chairman of the committee on banks and banking, was the recipient of a handsome and useful present from the members of his committee yesterday.

The presentation was made by Colonel Cutts. The present was eight volumes of Knight's History of England, illustrated and bound in calf, an exceedingly appropriate gift to a student.

Colonel Dick Wilson, the doorkeeper of the house, was presented with a handsome diamond pin by the members and assistant doorkeeper yesterday. Mr. Atkinson, of Coweta, made the presentation.

Chairman Bob Whitfield, of the special judiciary committee, was presented with a handsome silver service by his fellow committee-men. Mr. Bond of Putnam, made the presentation speech. Mr. Whitfield replied eloquently and with much feeling.

An anecdote which there is no better man in the house, and some day he will grace a seat in congress.

Chairman Young, of Irwin, was the recipient of a handsome gold-headed cane, by his colleagues in the enrolling committee yesterday.

Mr. Warner Hill, chairman of the judiciary committee of the house, received a beautiful silver service from his committee colleagues yesterday.

If Warner Hill's ability is as well known in his district as it is here, it will not be many years before he will be addressing "Mr. Speaker" in the national house of representatives.

Colonel Seay made a gallant fight in the house yesterday for the Rome police commission bill, but the time was too short and he lost.

THE CROWDS COMING.

Straws Which Show the Direction of the Cyclones.

FROM EVERYWHERE THEY WILL COME.

How Work Progresses at the Grounds. The Turkish Exhibit—Last Meeting of the Board of Directors Tonight.

The promise is magnificent for a great attendance upon the Piedmont exposition of 1891. From every section of the state come inquiries freighted with interest and enthusiasm. Atlanta drummers and business men coming in from different sections of the state report that the exposition is the absorbing topic of conversation everywhere, and in some places the desire and intention of wage earners to be present is almost paralyzing to business.

Take Mr. G. V. Gross, for instance. He has just returned from a business trip to south Georgia, covering the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia roads. Out of fifty-seven men to whom he talked of the exposition, fifty-six stated positively that they were coming with their families and friends, and the fifty-seventh had no family, and was physically unable to come.

Mr. Gross declares that his own large force of employees in the lumber business in southwest Georgia, 200 miles away, were so bent on coming to the exposition that his business will be interfered with by their absence, and so he makes a virtue of necessity, gives his consent and, like the good Atlanta that he is, pays off his hands a fortnight earlier in order that they may come to Atlanta to enjoy the glories of the Piedmont and the greatness of the town.

And so it goes all over the state. The crowds are coming by the hundred thousand to Atlanta.

Let Atlanta get ready to take care of them. The Piedmont will give them royal returns for their tickets at the gate.

Thirty carloads of exhibits were unloaded at the exposition grounds on yesterday. This will give some indication of the stir and bustle that prevails at this great center of interest in this city.

The main building is alive with an army of workmen putting up places and multitudes of exhibits which will appear in stately and attractive shape on Monday morning. The center of the main building will be occupied by the floral exhibit grouped around a huge pyramid of plants and flowers, which will give to the display the appearance of a great fragrant bouquet. On the four corners of the hall which surround the center the following exhibits will appear: First, Mr. Nassem Arbelly's famous Turkish exhibit; then the exhibit of Beeman & Silverman, then the exhibit of Cannin, of Saratoga, and last the jewelry exhibit of Messrs. Maier & Berke, with Messrs. Eissman Brothers occupying the remaining space.

The following exhibits are already on the grounds and are getting into shape:

The agricultural and machinery hall is even busier than the main building, and its contents will certainly surpass in scope, variety and variety the great exhibition which have made that hall so famous in the past. Mr. Shelton, of Floyd county, the champion farmer of north Georgia, is here with a magnificent exhibit to sustain the laurels which his county has won in the past, and Mr. Allen, of Rome, is superintending the mineral display of the same exhibit. This exhibit is more nearly completed than any other in the hall, but others are getting rapidly in, and it is evident from the lavishness and taste displayed that they have learned much from the past, and propose to make the present exposition the battle royal for the champion ship among the counties in Georgia.

Flyers on the Track.

Twelve or fifteen race horses, trotters and runners were exercising on the track yesterday, and, if they are a fair sample of the actual races which are to come later on, it is safe to predict that both the running and trotting races of this exposition will be the finest ever seen in the south. The stables of the Piedmont are being filled rapidly, and it is no longer a question but that the exhibition of the exposition will be great and unequalled.

The Exposition Cable Railroad.

The cable railroad from the grand stand to the main building is progressing rapidly, and will be completed by Sunday.

Everything Moving Smoothly. Everything is progressing famously, and the indications point to a great and successful opening on Monday next. The exhibitors present are full of enthusiasm and faith in the magnificence of the exhibits at the Piedmont, and with one accord, the outside exhibitors express their enthusiasm for Atlanta and the most unbounded faith in its growth and development. The arrival of the last carload of the King Solomon society today makes it certain that that great spectacle will be ready for the public on Monday evening, and if the people of Georgia could see the vast scale upon which these preparations are being made they would realize the surpassing attractiveness of this feature of the exposition.

That Turkish Exhibit.

Another letter comes from a prominent merchant of Damascus, Syria, who has just arrived in New York city, authorizing Mr. Nassem Arbelly, the manager of the Mohammed Mosque that is to be portrayed at the Piedmont exposition—he authorizes Mr. Arbelly to act for him in regard to exhibits in connection with the said Mosque. It is a most interesting exhibit of both Biblical and historical nature for students to whom the opportunity and time perhaps has not given them a chance to go and visit the oldest city that is known to religions and temple history. In this plan it is proposed to construct a perfect reproduction of the street called Straight, which street was located the house of Judas. It was while on his way to this street that Saul saw the vision which gave him the name afterwards of St. Paul, and converted him from a persecutor of the Christians to the greatest and most ordained propagator of the doctrine. The gates of the city of Damascus are to be portrayed as traditional and historical accounts hand them down to us, that existed and were known on the day that St. Paul received his vision.

Furthermore, there will be a similar representation of the wall over which the disciples took him and let him down by a basket. This gentleman of Damascus wishes to bring with him a Damascus family, composed of the various classes and sects of the country, giving representations of house and street scenes, social customs, various real phases of oriental life, such as singing, social games, amusements, and a Bedouin family in costume, with their household equipment under a black tent, made by a famous Bedouin sheik of the noted tribe Kourah.

Mr. Arbelly has secured for the exposition one of the best specialists of the orient. He will have on exhibit and sale some of the rarest oriental embroideries such as seldom, if ever, have been seen in any exposition. Such an exhibition of Turkish rugs, hand embroidered lambrequins, table covers, piano scarfs, shawls, curtains, swords, daggers, bowie knives, and many other things which are too numerous to mention, all of which will be sold at a reasonable price while on exhibit.

The Last Meeting. There will be a called meeting of the board of directors of the exposition today to settle some important matters. It will be the last meeting of the directors prior to the opening of the exposition. President Wylie, Secretary Arnold and Manager O'Brien will move their offices out to the exposition grounds today.

THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE.

Gossip Gathered Yesterday in the Various Departments.

In the three courts which were sitting yesterday, not one case of public interest, save the murder case in Judge Clark's court, was tried.

The Superior Court. The superior court met at 9 o'clock, Judge Marshall, J. Clark presiding. The case of Willingham & Co. vs. Rosa Franklin resulted in a victory for the plaintiffs who got a verdict for $1,018 principal and $14.50 interest. Messrs. Simmons & Corrigan represented the plaintiffs.

The case of the Knoxville City Mills vs. David Swinger and Julia Lovinger, was withdrawn.

The case of W. J. Tucker vs. W. C. Smith, was marked "settled."

The City Court.

In the city court of Atlanta, Judge Howard Van Epps presiding, the entire day was taken with the case of Anderson vs. the East Tennessee and Virginia and Georgia railroad. The plaintiff is represented by Messrs. Simmons & Corrigan, and Messrs. Dorsey, Brower & Howell appeared for the company.

Judge Van Epps has decided that he will not hold court next week.

A Damaging Suit.

In the office of the clerk of the superior court there was filed yesterday a suit for $2,000 damages against the Georgia Kimbro, Mrs. S. V. Kimbro and Mrs. F. M. Farley. The plaintiff is Mrs. Mary F. Slater, who owns in her declaration that she leased a residence from the defendants for two years, paying therefor $60 a month. She kept a boarding house. Notwithstanding her punctuality in paying the rent, they sought to evict her, and finally threatened her with a writ of possession. She says this was done with malice and she claims punitive damages for willful abuse of legal process. The plaintiff is represented by Messrs. P. L. Mynatt & Son.

Dante's Inferno.

Is prolific in tortures, but dyspepsia, a malady to which Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is adapted, furnishes a quiver full of them. Nausea, heartburn, biliousness, the great exhibition which characterize this protean malady. Each and all dispelled by the Bitters, which also eradicates rheumatism, kidney trouble and malaria.

INTERESTING SERVICES.

To Be Held at the First Baptist Church.

Next Sunday night there will be an interesting service at the First Baptist church.

It will be a service conducted by the Young People's Christian Union of that church, and a most interesting programme of musical and devotional exercises has been arranged. The opening address will be delivered by the president, W. M. York.

Governor Northing will then be introduced, and will make the address of the evening, on the importance of young people doing Christian work. Secretary C. A. Licklider will follow Governor Northing with a few remarks. After Mr. Licklider, Dr. E. S. Northing, Messrs. A. E. Wheeler, A. W. White and others will make short speeches. Professor O'Donnell has arranged an excellent musical programme, and the services will be interspersed with delightful solos.

All the young people's societies in the city are invited to be present.

WORK TO BEGIN.

On Georgia Military Institute at Once. The Georgia Military Institute at Manchester will begin its first large building within two weeks. Mr. Scott, the manager, says that the plans are about ready, and as soon as completed work will begin. Mr. Mat Walker is already hard at work building three large brick stores and a twenty-two room hotel. It will be perhaps, the first large building completed in Manchester. Professor Cox, of the Southern Female college, is having the grounds put in order, and before the flowers begin to bloom again will have the main building of his famous college well under way. The material for several residences is now being delivered, and altogether the outlook for Manchester is brighter than ever before.

Tomorrow morning a special train will run to Manchester, bearing the union passenger depot at 10 o'clock a. m. and returning to the city at 1 o'clock p. m.

Everybody is invited to go out and see the progress that is being made at Atlanta's most lovely suburb—Manchester.
